2010 TRIONE SAUVIGNON BLANC RUSSIAN RIVER VALLEY, RIVER ROAD RANCH

90 POINTS

"Presented in a Bordelaise style, balancing oak aging with a strong fruit presence, this layers scents of vanilla and cream over lime, kumquat and fresh-cut grass. It's the fruit that lasts, superseding the oak. Age this a year or two."

Wine and Spirits Magazine

February 2013

"A standout, gorgeously dry and crisp, tasting of green apple..."

Virginie Boone

The Press Democrat

November 14, 2012

"It's loaded with mineral heft, white flowers, a hint of lavender, a trace of dried savory herbs and green apple crispness."

Stephen Yafa

Uncorked

August 2012

89 POINTS

"Standing apart from the norm insofar as it is a bigger and more ambitious take on what Sauvignon Blanc can be.... It is full and fleshy with plenty of balancing acidity, and it ends with a long and sustained finish."

Connoisseurs' Guide to California Wines

November 2012

"Grape growers in Sonoma for more than three decades, the Trione family is well known in the wine business. Only recently have they begun to bottle their own wines, and their commitment to quality is evident. This white is juicy and fresh but with a creamy character that makes it ideal for pairing with foods from shellfish to cheese."
